essary arrangements.
Chairman State Central Committee.

If the Democrats carry Dodge county in the year 1879, they will consider themselves fortunate.

The Democrats will never feel like condoning Resumption. It gave them too severe a blow.

The Wisconsin Legislature stands a pretty good chance of being almost unanimously Republican.

Postmaster Keyes still lives and is able to make political speeches and draw crowded houses. This may astonish the Milwaukee Sentinel.

"General" Parkinson has a speech for sale which some Democratic orator can buy cheap. It was prepared for Mr. Jenkins, but it did not suit his purpose, and was returned.

One of our prominent ministers said in the pulpit yesterday that the people very frequently nominate, and elect to office, men whom they would not employ to clean up their yard. This was a severe thrust at the Democracy.

Brick Pomeroy seems to have retired from the contest since the October elections. He has bled the Greenback candidate to the extent of his power, and that ends the campaign as far as he is concerned. He wins while the Greenback nominees are crushingly defeated.

Some two months ago, Brick Pomeroy faithfully promised that he would come to Janesville and produce the documents which would prove that the editor of the Gazette was the greatest political liar in the United States. Brick has not yet kept his word, and there seems no probability that he will. He is rash both in his promises and predictions. He said he would meet Thomas M. Nichol in debate, but has not. He said the Greenbackers in Ohio would fall nearly 200,000 votes—they polled 9,000.
He said there were 3,000,000 Greenbackers in the United States, whereas there are not 100,000. He promised the Wisconsin Greenback ticket that it would be elected.
The nominees gave liberally of their substance to Brick after their nomination, and to and behold, the Greenback party in Wisconsin, together with its twin sister, the Democrat party is dead. It won't get 10,000 in the entire State. So long as Brick can find candidates to bleed he will, or a Greenbacker, and when there are no

THE NEWS.

Governor Smith's Opinion as to the Political Outlook in Wisconsin.

The publication of the story of one Pearson, of Milwaukee, regarding the management of the House of Correction, has caused a profound sensation throughout the State. If the story be half true the management of that prison is a shame and a disgrace and not much better than the management of Andersonville. There are some disputes as to the truth or falsity of the charges published in the Milwaukee Sentinel and written by an ex-convict. The Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph says "the story is a mass of falsehoods, and that the writer of the story is undoubtedly insane.
The statements made by him are the mere ravings of lunacy. He was thought to be at least partially demented while in his place of imprisonment. There is no doubt that his descriptions are the incoherent inventions of a disordered brain. Mr. Dan.
Kennedy has an established reputation as one of the best correctional and reformatory officers in the country, which he well deserves for the executive ability, the integrity, the efficiency and humanity which he displayed in office. In addition to this,
it would be impossible for him to have been guilty of the mismanagement charged without the connivance of Judge Mallory, Chief of Police Beck, the prosecuting attorneys of the county, and other officials to whom the facts would be known. To suppose so monstrous a conspiracy is beyond the powers of belief of any sane man.
In fact, as before stated, the author of the article is doubtless a lunatic."

This is the opinion of an independent newspaper, of men not blinded by prejudice nor influenced by party feeling, and is entitled to much consideration. On the other hand, the Sentinel had the written story in its possession nearly a month and took time to consider the matter, to learn of the truthfulness of the ex-convict, and to satisfy itself by corroborating evidence that the story was in the main true. After these steps were taken, the Sentinel, understanding the importance of the charges and the result should the story prove to be false, deliberately published the charges, and defied the persons charged with fraud, brutality, and even murder. Of course, such both civil and criminal, have been brought against the proprietors of the Sentinel. These will cause a thorough investigation of the management and condition of the House of Correction, and until then the people will be compelled to remain in doubt as to the truth or falsity of the charges against the managers of the House of Correction.

MEETING WITH DISCOURAGEMENT.

The Democratic managers of the Jenkins campaign are unable to extricate themselves and the party from the embarrassment occasioned by the loss of all hope of success. They go through somewhat of a form in running their candidates, and pretend to hold public meetings, and to discuss the issues of the campaign, but so far the meetings have been moderately attended, and the real questions of the day carefully avoided.
It is as plain to Mr. Jenkins, as it is to the Democratic managers, that the administration of Governor Smith can not be attacked, and that no capital can be made by throwing mud thereat, that the people are well satisfied with the management of State affairs and do not desire a change, and that a discussion of the S. uthern question would do the Democrats more harm than good. For these reasons, all the chief points of the canvass are avoided by the Democrats. Mr. Jenkins did start off rather bravely on the question of State-rights, but one speech was sufficient to let him know that he was on the wrong track, and what he said in his first speech he now completely ignores, and well-high disavows.

The managers are now trying to run the gubernatorial candidate on his popularity as a gentleman, but this does not create enthusiasm. He is a strong Democrat, an aggressive one, full of sympathy for the South during the war and since, and it is said by those who know him best, that he is meaner than he appears. However that may be, he is making a very tame campaign, and is doing nothing more than simply "skimming over the surface of things, and is skillfully avoiding the quagmires and quicksands which have swallowed up so many of his brothers."

This is all he is doing. It is all he can do and it is all the managers expect him to do.
The Democratic party never appeared before the public at so great a disadvantage as they do this fall. It has a ticket in the field, and yet not one of the speakers, not one of the party papers, has given a single reason why the ticket should be elected. The issues brought out by the extra session, of which should be discussed this fall, are ignored by the Democratic speakers and the press. In fact they are utterly devoid of material with which to run a campaign. They lack hope themselves, they can not infuse the party with life, they can not create enthusiasm among the people, and can not promise them success. Surrounded by this state of affairs, the Democrats are trying, or pretend to be trying, to elect their ticket. It is as evident to them, as it is to the keenest political observer, that they will encounter a worse defeat than they have had in twenty years.

FOND DU LAC, 26.—The store of Frentelle & Keeling, at Wausau, was entered by burglars this morning. The safe was blown open and a considerable sum of money taken, also quite an amount of goods.

THE BALLOONISTS.

Identification of the Remains Found at Miller's Station as Those of Young Burr.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—There can now be no doubt as to the fate of the aeronauts who left St. Louis in the balloon "Pathfinder," four weeks ago. The body was that picked up Friday at Miller's Station, Ind., having been identified as that of Mr. Burr, of St. Louis, leads to the belief that Professor Wise has made his last ascension.

Thursday some men discovered a body floating in Lake Michigan, about two miles northeast of Miller's Station, thirty miles from here, on the Lake Shore and Michigan Road. The discovery was made about the place, and on Friday the body was secured by the same men, who went out in a boat. Mr. W. E. Burr, a banker, residing at No. 3412 Morgan street, St. Louis, and a brother of the unfortunate man, was telegraphed to at once. That his address was known was owing to the fact that when it was announced a short time ago, that a balloon had been seen in the neighborhood of Miller's Station and published in the papers, Mr. Burr telegraphed to Mr. B. L. Smith, of the Hyde and Leather Bank, of this city, to ascertain the truth of the report. Mr. Burr asked the telegram of the discoverer by asking Mr. Smith to send an undertaker to Miller's Station. Mr. C. H. Jordan went out on Saturday evening, and found the body lying on the beach, with a rough shanty constructed for protection.
A picture of Mr.
Wise's companion had been procured and the remains were identified. The exorner, who resides at Valparaiso, was summoned, and an inquest was held during the night.
The body was then sent here, in company with two gentlemen who represent the man that discovered it. The body arrived here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and was taken to Jordan's establishment, No.
116 Monroe street. A friend of the deceased arrived here in the afternoon, viewed the remains and positively identified them.

The remains presented a ghastly spectacle, and had evidently been in the water for some time. The hair on the face and head had been completely washed off, with the outer cuticle of the skin. The face was perfectly black, all the blood in the other of the hands was sunken, and was stagnant. The body was then sent here,

Governor Smith's Opinion as to the Political Outlook in Wisconsin.

management of the House of Correction,
the State. If the story be half true the
charges published in the Milwaukee Sen-
writer of the story is undoubtedly insane.
The statements made by him are the mere
place of imprisonment. There is no doubt
inventions of a disordered brain. Mr. Dan.
one of the best correctional and reforma-
guilty of the mismanagement charged
without the connivance of Judge Mallory,
yond the powers of belief of any sane man.

newspaper, of men not blinded by prej-
these steps were taken, the Sentinel, under-
prove to be false, de-
the persons charged with fraud, brutality,
management and condition of the House
will be compelled to remain in doubt as to
the managers of the House of Correction.

selves and the party from the embarrass-
and to discuss the
real questions of the day carefully avoided.
Democratic managers, that the administration of Governor Smith can not be attacked,
ment of State affairs and do not desire a
change, and that a discussion of the S. uth-
ern question would do the Democrats more
harm than good. For these reasons, all the
chief points of the canvass are avoided by
rather bravely on the question of State-
well-high disavows.

things, and is skillfully avoiding the quag-

before the public at so great a disadvan-
the field, and yet not one of the speakers,
not one of the party
this fall, are ignored by the Democratic
run a campaign. They lack hope them-
promise them success. Surrounded by
this state of affairs, the Democrats are try-
have had in twenty years.

goods.

pulse was to shoot, and he hauled up, but he hated to take human life, and thought he would steal upon them and see who they were. He did so, and found that they were two travelers who had come from the canal with their chest to take the train, and, being tired, set down to rest.

DR. LEMOYNE ON CREMATION.

What a Mockery Man has Made of Death—Costly Funerals.

From a Late Interview in Wheeling Intelligencer.

We remarked that we supposed the main topic of interest with him now-a-days was cremation. "Well, yes," said he, "I do feel a lively interest in the matter, because I am certain the world has gone wrong concerning the proper disposition to make of the dead. In the light of health and economy, the argument is with cremation, and there is nothing in reason or revelation to oppose it. This," said he, "the preacher who admit when I talk with them. The other day I had a talk with one of our ministers, and I said to him: 'You who oppose cremation draw a line of distinction between your dead membership that is most unchristian. The wealthy you bury up there in the cemetery in costly caskets, while the poor you bury in the Potter's Field. My plan disposes of the whole human family alike. It costs just the same to cremate everybody, and the cost is next to nothing. Five dollars will pay all the necessary expense. What a mockery man has made of this matter of death. It was never so intended. We made a pomp of it, and tried to preserve the dead intact, while nature has let loose every species of antagonism to such an idea. The earth and air are full of scavengers created for the special purpose of disposing of all dead matter in the shortest possible time. There were organized for the protection of man, but he in his pride, resists the humbling that is incident to his mortality, and puts his dead in costly case work, spending enough money on coffins and monuments to pay the national debt.' Why," said the doctor, "a quarter of a million dollars have been spent and wasted in twenty years in the cemetery of this town. And we go on impoverishing many people to keep up an unnatural and foolish custom."
